DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. The amendment to the claims filed on 9/23/2003 does not comply with the requirements for amending claims in reissue applications. Strikethrough is not allowed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for a method wherein water and acid are mixed with the other materials of claim 1, does not reasonably provide enablement for not including water and acid in making the material. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims.

A reading of the specification, for instance of the Examples, appears to require water and acid to be present in making the films.

Art Unit: 1762

4. Claim 15 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

It appears from 4:23-28 that aerosol processing is used to make particles, and is not used to make films of the claimed invention.

5. Claim 18 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for a hydrophobic organic polymer, oligomer or swelling agent (6:28-36), does not reasonably provide enablement for any hydrophobic molecule. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims.

See 6:28-36 for "...the interstitial compound can be a hydrophobic organic polymer, oligomer, or swelling agent..."

6. Claims 1-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

Art Unit: 1762

The meaning of A2, used 6 times in columns 4 through 8, is not clear. It is not clear if this designates a particular preparation of sol, and if so, what that preparation is.

7. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

8. Claims 6, 12, 15, 16 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

a) Claim 6: there is no antecedent basis for "thin film".

b) Claim 12: it is not clear when the exposure to ammonia vapor occurs, before or after the heating step.

c) Claim 15: there is no antecedent basis for "the step".

d) Claim 15: it is not clear how spin-coating, spray-coating, dip-coating or aerosol processing results in evaporation.

e) Claim 16: there is no antecedent basis for "the silica sol".

Art Unit: 1762

f) Claim 18: it is not clear if “hydrophobic” modifies only “molecule” or “oligomer” and “polymer” as well.

Double Patenting

9. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the “right to exclude” granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

10. Claims 1-2 and 8-9 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 12 and 13 of U.S. Patent No. 6270846. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the porosity of the present film appears to overlap with the film porosity claimed by 6270846 because each film is formed from the same starting materials and made by the same process.

Conclusion

11. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
